

A Note from Pastor Ed

What a wonderful time of orientation, hospitality, and planning I've had at NCC and in Vanderhoof this week! I think, in the four plus days I've been here, I've only had one meal alone – one that I skipped because I was too full, needed some exercise, and time to pray! Thanks for the great welcome you have given to me. Though the church is obviously blessed in many ways, I can see there are things to work on together in this transition time. Carolyn and I are away this weekend (and days following) to spend some time with our grandchildren in Edmonton while their parents are away. We will be thinking of you and praying for you as you gather for this special time of worship this Sunday. I look forward to being back with you for Sunday, the 13th, and several days following. Have a great weekend!
